About Friends of the Earth

➤ We are effective

Our campaigns get industry and politicians to take action through persuasive argument and lobbying

➤ We are authoritative

Our pioneering research is used by governments, commerce, the media and other campaign groups

➤ We inform

We publish a broad range of information to help people find out about, and take action on, important environmental issues that affect them

➤ We are independent

We work with all political parties but are aligned to none. This makes our work more effective and "politics free"
